HERRMANN GET OUT. SAYS RUPPERT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Col. Jacob Ruppert, president of the New York American League club and member of the joint committee to recommend a new chairman for the national commission, today issued a statement saying: "August Herrmann, the present chairman, should resign immediately. In view of his connection with the Cincinnati club, declaring that it would be 'loose' to objection from every point of view to have the president of one of the winning clubs also serving on the commission during the world's series."
Ruppert recommends that John E. Bruce, secretary of the commission, serve as temporary chairman during the world's series. He says the joint committee hopes to recommend a man for the position within the next two weeks.

American Canal Needless, Say Calexico Men.

Commerce Adopts Strong Resolutions.

All Property Rights, is Recommendation.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

Calexico, Sept. 21.—The Calexico Chamber of Commerce has gone on record as favoring an equitable division of expense in the construction of a canal to irrigate Imperial Valley, co-operation between Mexican landowners and American investors, non-interference with the rights of present Mexican property owners and an equitable division of whatever waters may be conserved through the Alamo channel in time of water shortage.

A resolution passed recently that things are advocated and all things are to be done in the name of the American canal, adoption of the plan proposed by the Calexico Chamber would render the construction of the all-American canal, the members believe.

The resolution, adopted by a unanimous vote, is as follows:

"Whereas, storage of the flood waters of the Colorado River for the protection of lands within the limits of the river on both sides of the international boundary line and for the furnishing of water for the irrigation of these lands must be accomplished immediately.

"And whereas, the lands within the limits of the line and the lands on both sides of the international boundary line and for the furnishing of water for the irrigation of these lands must be accomplished immediately.

SCHOOLS OPEN AT PASADENA.

Enrollment of Students Indicates Increased Attendance.

Revenue Officer Transferred to Bakersfield.

Golf Expert Donates Services to Municipal Course.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Sept. 21.—Pasadena's public schools reopen after the summer vacation tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The enrollment the first day is expected to be more than 10,000 and to exceed all past records of the local schools.

Between 1500 and 1600 pupils are enrolled at Pasadena High school. The John Muir Intermediate School has 800 pupils and finding room for all of them will be a problem the school officials face tomorrow. All the schools, elementary, intermediate and high, will open at the same hour.

The Pasadena High School will have the same military flavor it had last year. The Reserve Officers' Training Corps for the boys is being continued. Uniforms and rifles will be distributed to the boys upon their arrival from Washington some time during the week. The high school girls will wear a uniform dress of blue serge skirts and white middie. No exceptions to this rule will be allowed, despite the fact that State Superintendent Wood decided in the Santa Paula case that high school girls need not wear the uniform dress unless they wished.

H. W. Riley, who has been in charge of the Pasadena branch office of the Internal Revenue Department, in the Pasadena Federal Building, has been transferred to the Bakersfield office. He will leave for his new post next week and be succeeded here by E. E. Masters, who was originally in charge of this office.

BIRD LIFE IN SCHOOLS. The Audubon Society of Pasadena has applied to the School Board to introduce a regular study of bird life under its auspices, with monthly excursions afield in search of interesting bird life. The School Board is expected to act on the matter at its next meeting.

Jacob Albrecht, city superintendent of parks, has issued an appeal to householders in Pasadena to water the trees in their yards. This advice is forthcoming as a result of reports by many citizens that their trees are dying. Mr. Albrecht has investigated these reports and found that the trees were not being given sufficient water nourishment.

Although the municipal golf course may not be established this season, it probably will be laid out at once. John Duncan Dunn, golfing expert, attached to the Maryland, Huntington and Green hotels, has offered to lay out the course without charge to the city. The course will be situated in the city's Arroyo Seco Park.

PLANS TO ESTABLISH MAMMOTH VINEYARD.

WILL DEVOTE 480 ACRES TO CULTIVATION OF SEED-LESS GRAPES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 21.—One of the largest development projects to be announced for the coming season and one which indicates the growing importance of this district as a commercial producer of grapes is that for which the plans have been laid by G. W. Osterhout, formerly of Dinuba. Mr. Osterhout has bought 480 acres of land in the Poplar district, west of here, from Mrs. Rachel Wood, all of which, it is stated by the new owner, will be set to Thompson seedless grapes.

Experts have declared, according to Mr. Osterhout, that the Poplar district soil is perfect for Thompsons and muscats. The water supply is abundant, with not more than a twenty-foot lift.

RECOVER BODY OF LOST FISHERMAN. [EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] SAN DIEGO, Sept. 21.—Bringing the body of Paul Schubert, the San Diego fisherman who was drowned

the night of September 12 off San Si Puerres Point, Lower California, when his fishing smack, the Chilosa, suddenly sank, the fishing boat Nuchum arrived in port today.

Schubert's body was found lying on the bottom of the sea about forty feet distant from the Chilosa by a diver. Efforts to raise the sunken boat proved unsuccessful and the attempt was abandoned when Schubert's body was found.

The exact cause of the Chilosa's sinking may never be disclosed. It is believed, however, that Schubert piled nearly a ton of fish and ice in the hold and that the weight of these stove in a weak section of the hull which Schubert had previously repaired with a few boards.

NEW DEVELOPMENT. Formation of Water Company to Open 2000 Acres of Land. [LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.] RIVERSIDE, Sept. 21.—Preliminary steps in the organization of the Moreno Mutual Water Company have been completed, according to George A. Sarau, attorney for the company. "Definite limits for the territory to be watered have been fixed," said Mr. Sarau. "This will include a tract of 2000 acres near the town of Moreno. Practically all of it is now dry land. Experiments are already under way to ascertain the amount of water that will be available."

Women's Federation Meeting.

Arrangements are being made for the fall public meeting of the Women's Federation of Christian Missionary Workers on October 23. The meeting will be held at the First Baptist Church. The Executive Committee of Federation met last week and arranged several details. Commercial Board Luncheon.

The need of a civic center for this city will be discussed Wednesday at the regular noon luncheon of the Commercial Board of Los Angeles, at the Clark Hotel by F. W. Blanchard, Mason Wyle. Presley will present a new plan for the commercial development of the Pacific Coast State. Mrs. Marie Boumelle Kna, a native Hawaiian controller, will sing and Mrs. Harriette D. Packard will accompany her on the piano.

Editors Meet Today.

The Southern California Editorial Association will hold three sessions today at the Clark Hotel, at 10 a. m., 3 p. m. and 6 p. m., respectively. The morning meeting will be mostly given over to business and the discussion of technical problems of "The Fourth Estate". At the afternoon gathering the editors will be addressed by Harry Williams of The Times, Hon. Friend W. Richardson of the Berkeley Gazette, and others. The evening meeting will consist of a banquet and a speaking program and among the speakers

ITALIANS CELEBRATE.

Songs, dances, recitations and addresses by many prominent Italians of Los Angeles featured the celebration of Italian Independence Day at Seelig Zoo Park yesterday afternoon, attended by more than 1000 people. September 20 marks the anniversary of Garibaldi's entrance into Rome and the name of Italy's hero was mentioned in every song and speech in yesterday's entertainment. The speakers' stand was fittingly decorated with the Stars and Stripes floating side by side with the flag of Italy.

A MAN and His LIFE INSURANCE

Most men think, when they have taken out a Life Insurance policy and have regularly paid the premiums, that they have done all that forethought might suggest for the protection of their families.

But they haven't.

Records show that a painfully large proportion of all Life Insurance payments are dissipated and lost, usually because of the inexperience of the beneficiaries.

RE-INSURE LIFE INSURANCE

We have prepared a short, non-technical, interesting booklet which should be read by every man who loves his family and carries Life Insurance to protect them, after his death.

Ask for a booklet, at the Information Desk. It is free, of course.

NO DUMB SINGER.
 It appears that Chet Rowell was ably carried along at any rate. Newspapers carried full reports of the speech which the crowd at San Francisco did not permit him to make.

FORETHOUGHT.
 People who are so eager to quit work should at least take the sensible precaution of seeing that there is a better job ahead. Who will pay strike benefits when everybody deserts his post?

NOT VERY FAR.
 The fact that the profiteering quis has reached as far as sugar and tomatoes hardly calls for three cheers of hope on the part of the casual consumer. We have other things to worry about besides the sweetening of our catnap.

MAILS AND FEMALE.
 So many men are leaving the postal service that it is suggested that women be employed in this department as far as possible. It takes the female of the species to handle the mail just right.

PSYCHOLOGICAL.
 Dr. Graham Lusk says that there is a vast field for study in the psychology of food. Maybe so; but the minute we start studying it seems to be the psychological moment for boosting the price.

DULL BUT NOT DUMB.
 The President's inference that some of the critics of the Government do their thinking in an almighty chamber is quite correct, but the trouble is that some of them come up to a blowhole every now and then.

THE LONE WOLF.
 Senator Johnson is reported as having abandoned the trail. The role of the lone wolf is one to which he adapted himself readily, but the bones were slim pickings. In the pursuit of the President he gained a little of notoriety which he so much covets, but as the Executive floundered all the corners and angles of the covenant it developed that about all the Johnson arguments were founded upon false premises. He was at sea without rudder or compass and he welcomed a friendly tow back to Washington. He spoke many sonorous or stormy words, but the echo was hollow. The opposition to the league cannot stand the calm test of reason and, as the covenant is more fully understood, so is its shortcomings and importance realized. Senatorial objections are either personal or partisan. They are not patriotic or humanitarian.

THE POOR FARMER!
 Of course the farmer doesn't get his. He can prove it. The middleman and the commission merchant may get their little 100 per cent, but the farmer is slowly but surely starving to death. He is everybody's goat. The figures in the market reports don't mean anything except to the speculators. It may say in the papers that wheat is $2.25 a bushel and that the government guarantees the price, but the farmer doesn't get it. The speculators grade his wheat away below the standard and they ring in elevator charges on him until his wheat doesn't net him enough to buy his gasoline. A quartette of farmers who were down at Washington to appear before some committee took dinner at a hotel at the capital and made a little calculation. The bill for the dinner was $11 and out of that the American farmer received as his pay for his part of the raw material the magnificent sum of 52 cents! At that rate when a banquet to spread the American farmer benefits to the extent of one-twelfth of the price. No wonder the ranchers have a hard time in keeping baby in shoes.

AN INDEPENDENT AUSTRIA.
 The Germans have been raising no inconsiderable fuss because the Allies won't let them make provision for the constitution for the incorporation of Austria into the republic. Although the peace treaty provides that Germany recognizes the total independence of what was called German Austria, Berlin still dreams of attaching that country to itself as a sort of tail. The treaty with Austria makes it doubly sure that there will be no annexation if the Allies can prevent it, for it contains a clause expressly forbidding unity with Germany.

Why should the Austrians join the Germans? Haven't they suffered enough through the historic combination which brought about the world war and caused the dismemberment of their empire? They are far better off paddling their own canoe, even if it is vastly smaller than in 1914, when they allowed themselves to be used by the Hohenzollerns as a means toward what the ex-Kaiser hoped would be world supremacy for his house. As an independent republic Austria can look forward to bright days and all her former enemies sincerely hope that the shadows will rapidly pass away from the land which has paid so dearly for its crime of five years ago.

POLICEMAN AND PREACHER.
 Pandemonium reigns when the policeman betrays his trust. Witness Boston. The policeman is the people's guardian. The preacher is the people's guide. The policeman, if necessary, enforces good conduct with a club. The preacher encourages good conduct by reinforcing the character with a conscience. The policeman works on the outside. The preacher works on the inside. The preacher seeks to lead men in the right way. But if there are some who refuse to be led the people of sheer necessity appoint the policeman to drive them. If the preacher betrays his trust the people have lost their guide. If the policeman betrays his trust the people have lost their guardian.

No two men among us are more utterly indispensable than the policeman and the preacher. The policeman is the housekeeper. The preacher is the housecleaner. These two characters are the two chief minions of the community and of civilization. A preacherless Boston would be a confused Boston. A preacherless Boston would be an ungoverned Boston. An unpoliced Boston would be an unguarded Boston. And what is true of Boston is equally true of Washington, Chicago, Atlanta, San Francisco and Los Angeles and all the rest.

We are so easy-going and slow to foresee coming consequences in this country that it appears we must needs have object lessons. We have too many people among us who must see a stubble field burn before they will believe that a single lighted match is big enough to do the whole deadly deed. There seems to be growing up among us a sort of obtuseness which refuses to believe that it is practically dangerous to drop a glowing coal of fire into a keg of powder. There is a mental and moral sluggishness among us which refuses to believe that if you tear the foundation from under a house that same house will fall into ruins. The good Lord first said it and then the great Lincoln said it till it caught the ear of the world: "A house divided against itself cannot stand." If the policeman goes on a strike somebody other than policemen must protect the community.

II.
 THIS leads us to say again what The Times has said a good many times lately, viz: Pay the policeman a first-class wage and get the sort of policeman who will do a first-class work. Pay worth while and get a policeman worth while. The pay of the policeman has been too scant, and the Lord knows that the scantiness of the preacher's pay has been in many cases a shame and a disgrace to the church. There are this moment both policemen and preachers who are strained to the last link of endurance to support their families and to pay the constant doctor's bills for the sick members of the household. We are not guessing. We know concrete cases. But, as a rule, these guardians and guides of our communities are slow to complain. These brave workers do not easily wince. They stay on the job. They serve and suffer on. These minions of the law and the gospel are workmen who are worthy of their hire. If we require, as we certainly do, that the policeman and the preacher be worthy, then they have a right to require that we whom they guard and guide shall give them a worthy wage for their worthy work.

III.
 CONSIDER what the policeman and the preacher do. The policeman stands between the highwayman and us. The true policeman exposes his own life before he suffers ours to be imperiled. He stands between us and the deadly bomb thrower. Is the real policeman's job a soft snap? What civilian wants it? It is immensely important, but who that loves comfort and safety wants the policeman's job?

And who from the standpoint of ease and quietness and irresponsibility wants to be a preacher? When some decent man and woman want to set up a human home for the heart they call the preacher to do the infinitely delicate business of laying the foundation. They call on the preacher to strike the keynote of this lifelong music. When the last tragic sickness comes into the happy household the preacher is called, it may be at midnight or at 2 o'clock in the morning, to show the heartbroken survivors the way across the troubled sea of sorrow. And he goes. HE ALWAYS GOES. AND HE IT SAID TO THE PREACHER'S HONOR. HE IS GLAD TO GO. And it is written in the book of the law of one of the largest and most popular of our denominations touching the service of the preacher: "WE WILL ON NO ACCOUNT WHATEVER MAKE A CHARGE FOR BURYING THE DEAD." And, touching the preacher's service of the same church, not to speak of equal graciousness and generosity of the preachers of other denominations, these astonishing words are in the same book of law lying on our desk as we write: "IN NO CASE SHALL THE CHURCH BE HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR A FINAL DEFICIENCY." Any business institution would be ashamed and dishonored to have that for a business policy. How long would teachers and editors and lawyers and merchants and clerks and railroaders and dairymen and barbers and blacksmiths and ditch-diggers work for an institution with such a policy like that? Yet this church has every year at its door hundreds of ministers champing the bit for the gospel job. And there are others, many others, among these preacher servants of humanity. WHEN DID THE PREACHER EVER GO ON A STRIKE, PAY OR NO PAY? Absolutely never. With simplicity and unostentatious he is ever moving among the sick and the suffering, the distressed and the dying.

When did a policeman run when danger threatened? Such a thing has been almost unheard of till a while ago when the Boston police forsake their posts of duty and fled. Such a thing is so rare and so perilous to the people that it has sent a shudder to the American mind throughout the country. Even when the pay has been shamefully inadequate the policeman, like the preacher, has usually stuck to his post of duty.

Why the policeman and the preacher go on pandemonium will come in. In every age when the preacher's voice has hushed all sorts of sins and follies have become rampant. And if there is no policeman to curb reckless conduct there is always enough lawlessness hanging around the edges to set the house of civilization on fire. Men and women, this is what we people in America must do, and we must do it at once—pay the policeman to make our communities safe for democracy; AND PAY THE PREACHER TO MAKE DEMOCRACY SAFE FOR OUR COMMUNITIES.

IV.
 "A GOOD INVESTMENT." That is a popular business phrase. To make two dollars grow where one grew before. Honest investments which develop dollars are always desirable. But there are "good investments" which develop other things as well as dollars. Nobody wants to build a permanent home in a community which is to remain permanently schoolless and churchless. These are two indispensable factors of American civilization. Dollars invested in the school and the church and good-citizenship conduct which our policeman stand for—these things are worth infinitely more to the welfare of human society than the dollars invested.

Theodore Roosevelt told us years ago that "MORAL DEGENERATION WOULD RESULT IN MATERIAL DISSOLUTION." What are our dollars worth if they do not contribute to the intelligence and decency and safety of the community? IF WE DO NOT INVEST OUR DOLLARS IN A WAY TO HELP SAVE US FROM DAMNATION THEY ARE DAMNABLE DOLLARS. Let us stick to the idea of the "good investment." But let us widen the meaning of the words. What are mere dollars as measured over against human safety and happiness and love? The best investment is that which brings the best to the human heart. Pasteur invested his life to give to the world his healing antidote. It never occurs to any of us to ask what Savonarola or Kosuth or Garibaldi or Whitlister or Abraham Lincoln or Jesus was worth in dollars. Why? Because what they gave us was worth so much more than dollars. Cash becomes imperishable only when it becomes transmuted into imperishable character.

Why do not the policeman and the preacher meet together in a friendly conference once a quarter, semi-annual or at least once a year for mutual counsel and co-operation touching matters of community interest? It would close a fellowship and friendship which is needed by both policeman and preacher. Would it not be well for both policeman and preacher to get together to each other's hands? They are both policeman and preacher, engaged in the important task of conserving and protecting our common interests.

NAVAL PROBLEMS.
 In connection with our own naval programme some of the discussion in British marine circles is of interest. Baron Fisher of Kolverston, England's former First Sea Lord, created some stir when he advocated the virtual dismantling of the fleet. The British navy cannot be scrapped without a scrap. But Baron Fisher declares that most of it is obsolete and that, with Germany under control and the League of Nations in operation, a great navy is no longer required. Naval experts admit the truth of the Baron's contention, but are not willing to go to the extent suggested by him. Sir Percy Scott, British admiral, says that the big battleships are doomed and that the money spent on them might at least be diverted to some more practical purpose. He doesn't want to get rid of the navy, but he wants one built on different lines. These British opinions are of value to compare with the plans of Secretary Daniels and the American naval board. They do not seem to agree on basic principles.

Complimentary.
 It is said that only about $3 or $4 worth of hide enters into the manufacture of a pair of boots costing $15. The rest is made up out of the hide of the purchaser.—[Toronto Mail and Empire.]

HARD TO MIX.
 It used to be that a man who tried to bring a company of Germans and Irish together under one roof would land in the hospital. But George Sylvester Viereck, the notorious German propagandist, still seeks this very alliance. He has a publication which he calls the "American Weekly," but which is as hostile to things American as the government will permit. In his paper he is urging a combination of the German-Americans and Irish-Americans to make themselves a strong factor in the politics and foreign policies of this country. He is sure that under a powerful leader—naturally of German extraction—this organization would be made a vital force in shaping the destinies of this republic. Possibly in time it would become a German-Irish nation—a regular Erin go brag about the Vatterland.

Perchance George has the idea that if the League of Nations can be smashed by his project an alliance of Germany, America and Ireland can be formed that would wipe hated England from the map and send Lloyd George back to the mines.

This Viereck takes the friendship of Ireland for Germany as granted and also assumes that the Irish are opposed to the covenant of the great league. In the mass both of these propositions are refuted. The large majority of the Irish in America are not only opposed to any softening of the peace terms imposed upon Germany, but they are strongly in favor of the League of Nations. Furthermore, the majority of the German-Americans prefer to be known as just-Americans and would fight any proposition to Germanize their adopted land. Many of them went back to Europe to give battle to the Kaiser and would still fight anything that savored of the system behind him.

THE BOSTON TRAITORS.
 What is a traitor? According to the dictionary a traitor is "one who, for any cause, betrays a trust; especially one who violates his allegiance and betrays his country; anyone who acts deceitfully and falsely to his friends and joins their enemies." If this definition is accepted, then the striking policeman of Boston are more than deserters; they are traitors. In the thick of battle there may be some excuse for the weakling who drops the colors, for in his heart he may love his country and may not deserve the name of traitor, but no government is safe that pardons those who willfully betray the people. When a man belonging to any order or union, be it club, church or State, betrays his organization he is no longer a true member of it and deserves to be ejected. No person can be a faithful member of two organizations whose interests and principles conflict, any more than one can serve God and Mammon at the same time. "For either he will love the one and hate the other or else he will despise the one and cleave to the other." When members of the Boston police force formed a union, affiliated themselves with the American Federation of Labor and took oath to obey the dictates of that federation, even to the point of deserting their posts of duty, they joined the enemies of the country which they had previously sworn to protect. It is time to call people by their right names. No man has a right to be called an American who is false to the principles of Americanism, and the man who, for selfish reasons, announces his willingness to, at any moment, desert his country or his countrymen and turn them over to the country's enemies is nothing less than a traitor.

 MONDAY—Shot two men, poisoned a third and cracked a safe today. Spent the evening quietly at home playing with the baby.

TUESDAY—Blew up a Sunday-school this morning. Nothing much to do this afternoon—brained an old man, that's all. Played with the baby again this evening.

WEDNESDAY—This morning I threw two old women into a deep well and knifed a bridegroom. Spent the afternoon trying on new mustaches and a new way of flicking the ashes from my cigarette which the director wants to try out. Played checkers with the wife in the evening.

THURSDAY—Broke up a happy family, abducted a young girl and got over my new cigarette slick with great success today. More checkers with the wife tonight.

FRIDAY—Silt a man's throat in the morning and kicked a boy to death this afternoon. Played with the baby again this evening.

SATURDAY—Nothing much doing today—murdered a few people and broke into a house and took the family jewels. Played with the baby and then played checkers with the wife tonight. Ho hum, this is a stale life. Guess I'll have to get into something besides the movie—something where things aren't monotonous and there's more excitement.—[October Film Fun.]

MOVING SUNWARD.

BY NETA MARQUIS.

In a review of a recent book of sociology from the Macmillan press, "Why We Fall as Christians," by Robert Hunter, a layman, the interesting statement occurs that the author "holds it to be the supreme duty of the church to change the present economic and social order because it is the deadly enemy of the truly Christian life and to establish a social and economic system in which people can be Christians."

This calm assumption that the church is easily adequate to the monumental task of inducing such change is entirely justifiable, if the church as a whole can be moved to put into operation the divine energy of which she is the accredited medium. That the lethargy in her own ranks, which has long neutralized much of the effort of her spiritual members to link up their aspirations and ideals with the practical needs of the material world around them, is being transformed by the shocks of world conflict into a vital, intelligent, effective force for the advancement of the "Kingdom of Rightness" is a present fact full of possibility and promise. Never, in the history of religion, has such an amazing spirit of unselfish work and co-operation in work been manifested as in this year of our Lord 1919.

The Social Service Bulletin, published monthly in New York by the Methodist Federation for Social Service, in its September issue gives a summary of social and industrial programmes recently adopted by the Northern Baptist convention, the International Sunday-school Association, the Young Women's Christian Association and the bishops, district superintendents and other officers of the Methodist Episcopal Church. It also makes reference to similar programmes adopted overseas by the English Quaker employers, the archbishops' committee and the British Social Party. One of the illuminating utterances of the Baptist programme reads: "Beyond all it is necessary that men should cultivate that attitude of mind which will welcome change and prepare them to make such readjustments as are wise. To resist advance is to drive men into revolution. To expect change and progress is the attitude of prayer and the answer to the prayer, Thy Kingdom come."

The Presbyterian Church, which furnishes a high percentage of the intellectual as well as the spiritual leaders of Christendom, is already on record with the far-reaching plan, publishing a monthly magazine devoted to the furtherance of its enlarged activities, while with the programme just announced by one of the strongest individual congregations of the denomination, the Immanuel Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles, with its nearly 3000 members, a crystallization of the general thought and spirit is occurring under our immediate observation.

This local movement is a gathering together of all branches of activity in the church for a systematic study of the problem of the foreigner in our social and economic life. In other words, it is a drive for Americanization. But while the dominant note is to be the obligation resting upon the church in the new order of things precipitated by the war, the classes, convened on Sunday night, at 6 o'clock are open, free of charge to all desiring information on the portentous questions to be separately considered. The interval will give the church a past in relation to the foreign element in our American life will be noted, together with the bills for the restriction of immigration now before Congress. The passage of some bill excluding the foreigner for a period of at least two years is practically inevitable, as it is imperative until we assimilate into our national life these already here.

Special emphasis is to be laid on the public schools of the United States—day schools, night schools, adult schools, industrial schools, home schools—as a powerful agency for the transforming of raw foreign material into desirable citizenry. The industrial conditions affecting and affected by the immigrant will be enlarged upon, with the evils to be removed and the wholesome practices to supplant them. The necessity for adjustment of all social service agencies, including Federal and State government commissions, welfare committees and societies, with the organized church, will be pointed out for the training of true leaders prepared to co-operate for the common good.

The course, scheduled to cover six weeks, will conclude with an analysis of the relation which the church, as "the maker of the people's conscience and the leader of the social faith," bears to the ultimate adjustment of social, industrial and international life to the sublime principles of justice and brotherhood—to the establishment of a social and economic system in which people can be Christians.

REVIEWS.

A SNAPPY WESTERN.

HARRY CAREY PUTS OVER THRILLS AT SUPERBA.

Once upon a time when every picture film was a wild and woolly western, and not so good at that, we almost vowed not to see another movie. But time has changed, and now we find ourselves standing at the threshold of the theater impatiently awaiting admission to see such portrayals of the western type as Harry Carey, the king of cowboys, who is holding sway as "The Ace of the Saddle" (which is one of the best of picturedom) this week at the Superba.

"The Ace of the Saddle" is a good, clean, amusing story of the West (not quite as far west as we are but still pretty far). The love interest is the strongest, naturally, but that does not mean there is no other excitement for there is plenty. Cheyenne Harry, our hero, throws his trusty six-shooters to one side and becomes a man of peace at the request of the girl. And the villain, who would never think of shooting an unarmed man, curses and grinds his teeth. But his scruples do not prevent him from rustling cattle, consequently Cheyenne misses some of his. And another thing the villain did was to poison the water hole. Now with a set of situations like that, and a few more, what would any noble hero do? Well, he did it.

Lonesome Hearts and Loose Hens, laugh better than it reads. Which is only another way of saying that the latest Universal wild animal comedy is certainly a hum-dinger, and as a fun special has half of the other so-called comedies backed right off the screen.

DUAL ROLE IS WELL PORTRAYED AT HIP.

Life was a battle for Jim Fortune, hero in chief of "The Battler," at the Hippodrome the first half of this week. And above all else, he couldn't stand idly by and see a woman roughly handled, even if it was his own wife. The first few scenes of the picture develop this. The rest is taken up with discovering "Jim's" father, who was divorced from his first wife because he handled her too roughly, and sets the accumulation of mix-ups straight.

Earl Metcalfe plays two roles, and differentiates them effectively. If it were not for the fact that the characters of Jim Fortune and Earl Metcalfe are presented on the program as being played by the same man, we would have a hard time believing it. One is hardly more than a youngster, and the other is a grown man with two sons, but each is played with convincing sincerity.

Heading the vaudeville bill are Gallet's monkeys that amuse, Earl and Edwards and two laugh provokers, Stanley and Lee play the banjo exceedingly well; Billy Hicks, "Our Editor," for a few more laughs; the skit "On the Road to Frisco" entertains; and the two athletic Gallets complete the program.

PLAYLET AND REVUE AMUSE AT BURBANK.

"Why Men Go Wrong," a baby playlet in one act and one scene, and "Pretty Baby," a musical revue, are the two vehicles of entertainment at the Burbank. The baby playlet, "Why Men Go Wrong," sounds like a dashing, daring, musical comedy, doesn't it? But that is where we slip up a bit. It isn't at all, but the answer is correct. "Why" is women, and the playlet stands ready to tell the how, why, and where men go wrong.

"Pretty Baby" is a musical revue (they call it revues because the chorus gets an encore with every number, and has to do the same thing all over again, hence "review") with a lot of songs as follows: "Fingers on your hands. There are a few snappy songs in the production, and one or two are really good. With a little more rehearsing and another comedian or so like Larry Richardson, it should go over big.

"MIRACLE MAN" IS PROVING APPEAL.

That miracle picture, "The Miracle Man," is still running to big houses at the Kinema. "The Miracle Man" is the type of picture you could see once a week for a year, and at the end of the time you would find yourself a better man, or a better woman; you would be leading a better life, thinking better thoughts. It is a picture with a universal appeal; it is named after the latest play and production of a masterpiece.

Youthful Betty Compson lives the role of Rose, the underworld girl, who is first of the crooks to become a convert to the "faith." Thomas Meighan makes a part of his experience the character of Tom Burke, who is the brains of the gang and whose iron will and love of money make him the last convert.

But if the work of these stars and their many supporters is convincing, words cannot express the feeling of reality experienced from the performance of Joseph J. Dowling, the miracle man himself.

To condense it to one short line: "The Miracle Man" is a picture for everyone—a record breaker after the record.

TO TEACH DRAMA AT OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE.

PROF. HEAD, IN CHARGE OF DEPARTMENT, FORMERLY AT ALHAMBRA SCHOOL.

W. H. Head has been added to the faculty of Occidental College, as instructor and lecturer in dramatics and oral interpretation. Prof. Head is a graduate of the University of Chicago and the Chicago School of Oratory. He was recently in charge of debating and dramatics in the Alhambra High School.

The college also has obtained Miss Grace Hayward as assistant professor of English. She is a graduate of the University of Kansas and received her master's degree at Columbia University, New York. She has been teaching at the University of Chicago and the Chicago School of Oratory, and at Bradley Polytechnic Institute, at Peoria, Ill.

IMPRESSIONS OF GOLD RUSH DAYS.

I rather think our old friend, "The Argonauts," produced several years ago, has bobbed up suddenly under the title of "The Vigilantes" this week at the Palace. I never happened to see the film under the original title, but know enough about it to hazard safe guesses. The name of Kahlerke, who gained considerable fame for his staging of pageants, is attached to the production. He was also at one time with John McGroarty's "Mission Play" company, as director of staging and production.

The main value of the picture rests on sketching of historical incidents, does not conform to photoplay form, being merely a series of impressions. They drag in fights and drag out villains every few scenes, without giving anybody a chance to find out who's who in the great West of Forty-nine. But, I suppose, one should worry, when we are being educated in the romantic history of California.

There is opportunity for a big play built around the story of the Argonauts and the early California settlers, but "The Vigilantes" only attains this objective in its scenic effects and abundance of atmosphere. Put a good swift driving breath of story through the rather cloudy incidents and the result would be a vigorous drama of a very dramatic period.

As it stands, "The Vigilantes" is an epic in embryo; interesting because it visualizes the discovery of gold, the strife and marauding incident to the gold rush and the final settlement of the same through the coming of the civil force of law and order—not because of its plot values.

NEW Y.M.C.A. UNIT TO BE OPENED TODAY.

Shipyard workers at Los Angeles Harbor will be guests of the Y.M.C.A. today at the opening of its new industrial unit on Harbor boulevard, near the plant of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company. Preparations have been made to entertain hundreds of visitors in the new building completed on Saturday. Officials of the local Y.M.C.A. and of the ship plant will inspect the building.

In the new unit is an auditorium with a seating capacity of 300 which is to be used for vaudeville, musical and entertainment features. The auditorium also is convertible into a gymnasium. A social hall measuring 40x60 feet and a billiard room forty feet square adjoin.

An educational work is already in progress at the new unit. This consists of classes for ninety shipyard workers in such subjects as blueprint reading, drawing, welding, shipbuilding and mold loft and shipwright work. The classes are being taught by foremen and superintendents of the industries in that vicinity.

Beginning early in October the Y.M.C.A. will conduct a program of recreational activities, both indoors and outdoors, under the supervision of W. A. Reynolds, formerly physical director of the Central Y.M.C.A., who returned last week from service as regional director of athletics in France. With W. A. Stillwell as his assistant, Mr. Reynolds will promote a series of games and contests in basketball, volleyball, baseball and various other athletic games.

Lloyd Darsie, Americanization secretary of the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A., is planning to offer foreign-born men of the shipyards courses in English, mathematics and such other subjects as they may desire.

The new Y.M.C.A. unit cost $24,000 to build and is being operated from San Francisco at a festival given by the shipyard workers. The school work is conducted in co-operation with the board of education.

"MARKET OF SOULS."

DALTON PLAY INTERESTING IN CHARACTERIZATION.

By Edwin Schallert.

Developing a certain novelty of situation and enriched by a very spectacular view of a midnight revel in New York on New Year's Eve, "The Market of Souls," starring Dorothy Dalton this week at Clune's Broadway, holds a balanced and sustained interest for the spectator. The trend of the story is toward a pleasant idealism in the play of character on character.

Miss Dalton, visualizes a "Pippa Passes" type of heroine, whose pervading good influence redeems the spiritual existence of two distinctly different brothers, the one a man about town, the other a cynic on the subject, women. The turning point in the story is the clash between these two brothers, concerning the girl. The plot is effectively managed with a great deal of color and beauty of setting-up to this point; beyond, while the situations are well handled, there are several places where events are obviously forced to the final happy ending. This happy ending is entirely natural, but the tangle of previous incidents was evidently a trifle too involved to avoid cutting a strand here and there.

Miss Dalton's heroine is clear cut—and somewhat different from the type she ordinarily portrays. As usual she succeeds by the repose she displays. The role makes no great demands on emotional ability, and Miss Dalton is essentially the picture actress of poise.

H. E. Herbert, Philo McCullough, Dorcas Matthews and Donald McDonald all realize satisfactory interpretations.

Using spiritualistic phenomena to bring about a happy conclusion, is a new twist, but its effectiveness is doubtful, except that in the final picture the management of the scene is characterized by finesse.

Whether or not the title of the play is synonymous with the Bright Light district of Gotham is not distinctly apparent, but we are to presume it refers to the areaway that is paved with shekels in contradistinction to the pathway bordered with the finer growth of self-sacrifice and intelligent sympathy along which the main theme progresses.

A play in which suspense grows out of capable dealing with character rather than plot material, therefore a creditable addition to a type of picture which is beginning to come to the fore, "The Market of Souls" is also attractive in staging and general tone. It is unfortunate that some of its real merit is spoiled by machine-made incident.

TIMELY NOTE IN KEENAN PICTURE.

Frank Keenan is always an actor of force and distinction, and in his portrayal of Carson Burr, the ruling financial and political power in a modern city, this week in "The World Aflame," he has a character that is a good example of these qualities. Mr. Keenan takes partial credit for the story of the play which is an attempt to suggest a peaceful solution of the conflict between capital and labor.

The dramatic force of the story lies chiefly in the manner in which the mob scenes are worked up. The one where Mr. Keenan as the Mayor faces the strikers armed with clubs, ready for an attack on a street car and orders them to give way, is the climax. You feel the strength of the Keenan presence as opposed to the crowd. The photography tellingly portrays changing expressions, and all the essential points are dwelt on in the direction.

Coincidentally the play reflects recent happenings in Boston in the manner in which the soldiers bring the rioters to bay. Numerous incidents enliven what would otherwise be a very serious episode. Mr. Keenan has gotten a great deal of punch into his subtleties, and many of these are well received.

The chief character portrayals, aside from Mr. Keenan, are well handled by Kathleen Kerrigan, Clark Marshall, Janice Wilson, Bert Sprout, and others.

As a dramatic story it has more carrying power than the ordinary picture with a purpose; it evidently attempts to approach the problem with sincerity and without bias, at the same time depicting the extremes of violence. Its main interest lies in its touching on current events.

PLEASANT COMEDY AT THE PALACE.

Light comedy drama of a very entertaining order is "Over the Garden Wall," this week at the Palace Theater. Bessie Love is the feature player, fascinating in the life and vivacity which she brings to her role.

She gives you just such a girl as Booth Tarkenton would make captivated in his romances of youth. She adds a touch of the Pickford style of make-up. The heroine's efforts to gain a living through raising and selling vegetables, and her little romance with the "chauffeur" over the garden wall are pretty and delicate threads on which to string a pleasant assortment of situations.

The material of the play is fundamentally of the obvious order, but the story is told with taste. The incidents are nicely ornamented, and the people of the play portrayed by Myrtle Reeves, Willis Marks, James Blackwell, Edward Hearn and others while they are of the anticipated types, are made interesting.

PLAN FESTIVAL.

Singer Says Rural Districts Show Music Interest.

Mme. Hesse-Sprotte has returned from a vacation trip of several weeks and will resume teaching. During the trip she appeared with Gertrude Ross and several musicians from San Francisco at a festival given in Bureka, Humboldt county. Mme. Hesse-Sprotte sang several groups of operatic and lyric numbers at the two concerts. Several of Mrs. Ross's compositions were also presented.

The singer declares that there is a widespread interest in music throughout the less-populated sections of the State, and that many of the counties are planning festivals for next spring and summer. During a several days stay in San Francisco Mme. Hesse-Sprotte had opportunity of renewing an acquaintance with Director Alfred Herts of the San Francisco Symphony, under whose direction she sang in opera in Europe.
